the hundreds upon hundreds of Princetonians who over the Holiday Season have opened their hearts to others in contributing more than $3,729 to the Eighteenth Annual Town Topics Christmas Appeal. As we enter upon the New Year, in a world shaken by fear and nagging doubt, it is reassuring to know that Princetonians in the space of 18 years have now given $51,010 so that thoughtful and specialized assistance can be extended to those thirsting for happiness and a sense of security. For their understanding generosity; for taking to heart our community's human needs; for refusing to permit bewildered youngsters to remain in the maze of despair where tomorrow is all too often just another cold, gray morning; these wonderful neighbors of ours are our nominees for Princeton's

This Is PRINCETON

BACK IN 1964 . . .

How Much Do You Remember? It was quiet in Princeton in 1964. The undergraduate rioting, the lurid domestic squabble, the national tragedy that made news in Princeton in 1963 were absent.

Even the problems shifted. There was less talk of sewers and a truck by-pass and "what about the water company?" but new issues rose to take their place (temporarily, without a doubt!) and in 1964 as in other years, this articulate community expressed itself vehemently through the "Mailbox" column of TOWN TOPICS, and "I strongly urge . . ." became the jumping-off phrase.

What moved Princeton deeply in 1964? A community swimming pool and kindness to animals. There are almost as many people in Princeton who want a community pool as there are people who love dogs if "Mailbox" letters are any indication; in fact, in the early months of 1964, letters about animal shelters, letters of commendation for the Small Animal Rescue League and letters deploring the use of animals for medical research reached such proportion that one resident wrote, "Plus que je vois les hommes, plus que j'admire les chiens."

It was after a record dry summer — normally hot: it just seemed hotter because of the drought — that the swimming pool question edged ahead of the dog question, and in spite of repeated reassurances by Township and Borough authorities that a pool would be built, the letters poured in: "I strongly urge . . . ."

Parking. Capital Punishment. Letter - writers felt strongly about parking, too. "I am against the University's peripheral parking . . . ." "I believe the idea of a parking lot behind Sheldon House needs more study . . ." (The Borough turned the University down on that one). "What about traffic on Nassau Street?"

"We need more low - cost housing in Princeton."

"Why not build weather shelters for people waiting for the bus?"

"Why must Princeton tear down houses to build office buildings?"

"The present theatre company at McCarter is incompetent."

"I don't like the new color of the former 'Balt' restaurant building."

"The University's new administration building will destroy the charm of Princeton."

"The sale of live chickens at Easter is a disgrace."

"Why did the Tercentenary Festival of Music have to give Verdi's 'Requiem'? I do not approve."

"We need outdoor public telephones."

"The Township ought to buy the high school from the Borough."

"Princeton does not have enough housing for Negroes."

"The death penalty must be abolished!"

"Vote 'yes' on the school budget."

"Gunning should be prohibited."

That Other World. This apparent preoccupation with local issues was, indeed, only apparent. The world outside was never forgotten.

During the presidential election campaign in the fall, Princetonians formed themselves into squadrons and phalanxes, armed to do battle for their candidate: "Republicans for Johnson . . ." It was a record election year for traditionally Republican Princeton: the Borough voted for a Democratic president for the first time since Woodrow Wilson, and so overwhelming was Lyndon B. Johnson's victory, that Senator Barry Goldwater did not capture a single district in either Borough or Township.

In the last stages of the campaign, a flurry arose over so-called "hate literature" available in Republican headquarters and volleys of shot were exchanged in "Mailbox."

Princeton reacted to the increasing intensity of the civil rights struggle. A prayer vigil for civil rights was held, and a Memorial Service for the three civil rights workers slain in Mississippi.

A Freedom Center was established in Princeton, and money, clothing and food were sent from Princeton families to destitute Negroes in Mississippi. PAHR, established in 1963, continued to thrive, in spite of the threat of devision over ends and means. The Rev. Albert Tyson stated PAHR's credo thusly: "PAHR's responsibility is to open up avenues that have been closed before: employment and housing, for example. We want to integrate Negroes fully into the democratic process so that each person can realize his own best. The way to do this? — there are many viewpoints."

Closer and Closer. Here in Princeton, Borough and Township drew closer together. A Joint Recreation Commission, led by one-time track star William R. Bonthron, was appointed in the summer, and a joint recreation director started work this December to plan a joint Community Gardens (including swimming pool.) Plans for the new Joint Free Public Library were unveiled in October, and the enabling ordinance passed this Monday night.

The new library, designed by a Princeton architect, Thaddeus Longstreth, will be built in 1965 on the corner of Wiggins and Witherspoon, eventually to serve 36,000 people.

The two mayors worked out a formula for sharing the cost of various joint municipal operations (library, sewers, recreation director, etc.), by using the total equalized assessed value of property in each municipality. For this year, the Township will pay 60% of whatever costs are involved, the Borough 40%.

As if to underscore the Borough-Township division, a thief stole two portraits from the lobby of the Princeton Inn. Borough police investgiated the theft of George Washington's portrait. Township police investigated the theft of Thomas Jefferson's portrait. They were across the room from each other.

(By the way, a Borough taxpayer paid $754 on his $30,000 house this year, a Township taxpayer $912.)

Houses and Schools. Within each municipality . . . well, the Borough wrestled

AND THE PAVEMENT JUST MELTED AWAY: In the middle of the hottest, driest summer Princeton has had in years, the heat softened the asphalt on Chambers Street and made it ripple like a ribbon. Want to know more about what happened in '64? Refresh your memory by reading "This Is Princeton."

Dilley Report Coming

If 1964 was quiet on the municipal scene, 1965 promises to be lively indeed.

The Joint Municipal Operations study, sometimes known as the Dilley Report after Robert V. Dilley, is scheduled for release "early in January," according to Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson, some 19 months after it was started.

The report would have been released before this, but Borough and Township School Boards have been completing the part of the study concerned with possible school merger. Both boards will have finished by next week, however, and when their report has been incorporated into the master report, then the whole survey will be released to the public.

As Mayor Patterson said in his New Year's message last year, "The Joint Committee is not seeking consolidation as the end product of its work, but solutions to mutual problems."

with public housing for the elderly off and on all year, chiefly with Charles LaPlaca, who owns the land where the Housing Authority wants to build. "The final round could be a long way off . . ." was one official comment, made at midyear.

One final round was reached in the Borough, however: after delicate, and sometimes harrassed negotiations with the the Township Planning Board, the Borough finally broke ground for its new school complex in the Township on Walnut Lane, and the bulldozers are already at work.

The Township's big news (aside from construction of the Hillside Avenue sewer, anticipated for about five years by Hillsiders) was the school study report — should the Township build a high school of its own, if merger with the Borough can't be worked out?

But mostly the news was made, as always, by people. Hardly had the year begun—on January 6—when six members of one family died in a Lawrence Township fire. Edward J. McMahon, his four children and his wife's aunt all perished in one of the worst tragedies recorded in the Princeton area.

The following month, two young brothers, Eric and Michael Rothaus, drowned beneath the Lake Carnegie ice, giving by their death, impetus to construction of the new safety "life stations" now ringing the lake.

We Retire . . . Two Princeton women who have given years of their lives to the town, retired in 1964: Dr. Jeanette Munro, pediatrician, who probably had thousands of "children"; and Mrs. Alice Schannel, who gave 35 years of service to the municipal government of the Borough.

Three Princeton residents found world-wide glory and brought it home to Princeton. There was Lesley Bush, 17-year-old Princeton High senior, who modestly won the Olympic gold medal for diving; Bernard P. Miller, who sent Ranger 7 off on its trip to the moon, and that gifted intellectual, Joseph David Oznot, the most famous of them all, who triumphed over all obstacles, including the fact that he didn't exist, to gain admittance to the class of '68, Princeton.

The town lost valuable and well-loved citizens in 1964 John Finley Williamson, founder of Westminster Choir College; Mary Boxall Boyd, piano teacher for many years; E. Harris Harbison of the University faculty; the architect, Kenneth Kassler; the historian, Alfred Hoyt Bill.

Elmer Rodweller, identified for many years with the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, lived long enough to see the dedication of the Squad's new building. D. Mershon Green lived long enough to attain 103 before he died this year. Samuel S. Wilks, Raymond C. Brickley and William R. ("Buster") Lewis also died in 1964.

And, by departure, Princeton lost two of its favorite pastors: the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of Witherspoon Presbyterian, who accepted the post of chaplain at Smith College, and the Rev. Dr. Richard H. Luecke, who left Lutheran of the Messiah for a pastorate in the mid-west.

Action! Another departure made news. Mrs. Marguerite McAneny left McCarter Theatre's managerial post after 18 years to give full time to the

NEW YEAR BEGINS

Municipalities to Reorganize. Traditional re-organization meetings will be held at noon on New Year's Day in both Borough and Township. "State-of-the-union" messages will be read by the mayors, appointments to municipal posts will be announced and members of Council and Committee will receive their assignments.

The Borough re-organization meeting will be held in Borough Hall. The Township meeting will be in the All-Purpose Room of Community Park School.

Changes will be recorded by both municipalities. In the Township, Mayor William L. Wilson is expected to withdraw his name, and Carl C. Schafer Jr., is expected to succeed him as mayor.

The Township mayor is chosen by Committeemen from their own number, usually by seniority. Mr. Schafer and John O. Green are equals in seniority, but informed sources believe that Mr. Schafer will be chosen.

A Republican, like all members of Committee, he is identified with the right wing of his party, and supported Senator Barry Goldwater in the presidential election. He is starting the last year of his first three-year term on Committee.

Two in Minority. Borough Council will have a new face. It is that of Enoch Durbin, who will join Councilman Joseph R. Strayer to make a pair of Democrats on the Republican-dominated Council.

Alan W. Carrick will begin his second term as Councilman, and Mayor Henry Patterson will begin the final year of his second two-year term.

LIQUOR SHIFT APPROVED

By Borough Council, Borough Council, after hearing some spirited opposition from area residents and businessmen, approved a resolution supporting the transfer of a liquor license from the Nassau Club to proposed quarters in the Cook Building at 190 Nassau Street.

It will now be up to the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission to decide if the transfer goes through. Normally, Council would have the final say on the matter. But a conflict of interest—several members of the Borough's governing body also belong to the Nassau Club — turned final decision on the matter over to the ABC.

Opposition to the transfer centered around two questions: the added traffic on Nassau Street and the proximity of two churches and two schools. The Residents of Princeton association was one of the parties raising the objections, as more than two dozen townspeople attended the meeting to indicate their concern.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson pointed out that any other store at the Cook Building location would also mean an increase in traffic — "just as much if not more." He responded to the second objection by noting that there are already a liquor store and a tavern in the vicinity.

But Council did say it would advise the ABC in a covering letter that it did feel concern over the traffic problem and that the commission encourage back-door delivery of goods to the proposed site. Timothy Sheehan purchased the license from the Nassau Club for $40,000.

He said that he would try to see to it that the deliveries are made to a rear entrance Mr. Sheehan said the license requires that he permit consumption of liquor on the premises as well as the sale of alcoholic gods.

THAT WAS THE WEATHER

That Was. If Easter (which falls on April 18 in 1965) is as warm as this past Christmas, Princetonians won't be surprised. But when a reading of 68 degrees was recorded here on Friday, December 25, children who got new baseball gloves put them to immediate use, while those who received skates or sleds were ready to make a quick swap.

The balmy temperature not only set a record for Christmas Day, but for the entire second half of December. The highest previous reading — 65 — was set on December 18, 1937.

Warm air flooding the country all the way from the Pacific Coast was a factor in the sharp upward trend. Ten days earlier, Carnegie Lake had been covered with ice, although far too thin for any winter-time action.

The mild air from the coast was then reinforced by more of the same reaching these parts from the Gulf of Mexico. When the warm currents moved throughout New England and eastern Canada, early snowfalls ran down the drain and resultant losses in the ski country ran to millions of dollars.

There was welcome rainfall here, even though the accompanying fog was a far cry from the traditional atmosphere for a sparkling Christmas. The year will bow out with a deficiency in precipitation, but approximately 1.4 inches fell last week to raise December's output to nearly five inches. About three is normal.

The Delaware River promptly reported its heaviest flow since last June. To top it off, the Weather Bureau reported that if the 1.4 inches of rain had been snow, there would have been some 14 inches blanketing the Princeton area.

"YES" TO LIBRARY

Ordinance Passed. Township Committee passed the $625,000 public library construction ordinance Monday night.

The public hearing was brief. Mrs. H. F. Cherniss, 98 Battle Road, read a statement from the League of Women Voters supporting the library project, although expressing the group's regret that the original library building has been cut in size by 10%. "Any further cutting down would be grievous," the statement said.

"It's unfortunate that you and the Borough decided to cut down on size," commented Miss Helen Fairbanks, 70 Valley Road. "I think you've been penny wise and pound foolish, because the cut may mean that you have to build a third floor in eight or ten years.

"There isn't as large an area for future expansion as in the original plan," conceded Mayor William L. Wilson. "but don't forget that a 30% growth factor is already built in. It's a question of judgment: we may be right, we may be wrong, but it's our judgement that this is right."

Service Area Not Affected. Thaddeus Longstreth, architect of the new library, said that library services were "unimpaired" by the 10% cut in area, and that the new library would still serve 30,000 people.

He told the audience that he had pared away small parts here and there: reduced the staff lounge area, reduced the volume of space in the two-story well, and so on.

"Township Committee knows that the library trustees would have preferred 10% more space," said Mrs. E. Baldwin Smith, president of the trustees, "but we want to get on with it!"

"This appropriation doesn't necessarily limit what kind of library we build," Mayor Wilson said. "We've appropriated more than the Township's share of 60% in order to allow for contingencies. We're not being complete Scrooges in this Christmas season!"

The ordinance passed unanimously.

Thanks for Land Gift. "We owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Eno for this gift," said Committeeman John O. Green, after Thomas P. Cook, counsel for the Open Space Commission, had formally accepted for the Township a gift from Amos Eno of 22 acres of natural woodland between the canal and Stony Brook.

Mr. Eno has laid down certain broad conditions: the land must be kept in its natural undeveloped state, except for an access road and a screened parking area. No ball parks or buildings (except one for tools) may be constructed. If the Township ever decides to give up the land — a most unlikely eventuality — the plot must go to some conservation society.

"These pennies all add up."

WHY, IT'S WALLY BYAM, BACK AGAIN! Not really. This aerial shot was taken last June when all those trailers—about 1,500 of them — converged in a field in Montgomery Township. The shiny little beetles and their bereted owners were welcome Princeton visitors for two weeks last sommer.

theatre collection at Firestone Library.

The arts, music, the theatre and sports were the liveliest and most exciting parts of life in Princeton in 1964.

Gian-Carlo Menotti dropped in on the Princeton High School Choir, and before long, the Choir was on its second European tour, visiting Spoleto, Italy, and Signor Menotti; Budapest, and Cheltenham, England, picking up critical acclaim wherever it sang.

The new Princeton Regional Ballet made its debut this year, and appeared again with its young company in a lavish production of "The Nutcracker." The regional ballet draws its dancers to Princeton from a large area in central New Jersey.

A group of Princeton artists banded to form, in the spring, the new Princeton Art Association. Throughout the year outstanding exhibits by such artists as Jim Davis, Peter Cook, Mel Silverman, were hung in Princeton galleries, and Riverside School held a memorable art show.

Between the Acts. At McCarter Theatre, a spring Shakespeare festival gave Princeton five somewhat controversial productions of Shakespeare and this fall, a new venture in cooperation with an existing theatre company produced a series of plays by American playwrights.

In between, theatre-goers could have seen an excellent Princeton production of "Showboat!", "The Blacks," "Sleep of Prisoners," the San Francisco Ballet, "Zoo Story," "The American Dream," "In White America" (anyone of three times it played here. A Princeton faculty member, Martin Duberman, compiled it, but its popularity here was not due to parochialism.) Or "Le Mariage de Figaro" in French. "The Grass Harp," and the Lawrenceville School's "Dr. Faustus."

In the warm June evenings, music lovers strolled the Westminster Choir College grounds and sat under a big tent for the concerts of the New Jersey Tercentenary Festival of Music, with Eugene Ormandy, Benny Goodman (he was not a good man, in the opinion of most Festival goers) and Erica Morini. Oh, yes, and the Verdi "Requiem," as TOWN TOPICS' irate correspondent noted.

(And what music-lover could forget the Gerard Souzay recital when the baritone stopped in mid-measure to censure a woman who was tiptoeing from McCarter Theatre?)

The Crowns Were of Ivy. Two major championships came Princeton University's way during the year, as two All-Americans performed in a manner that will long be remembered.

The Princeton Tigers won a second straight Ivy League basketball title as Bill Bradley earned All-American rating for the second straight year and continued to rewrite the record book. After successful defense of their title, the Princetonians reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament and finished with a fine 20-and-9 record.

News Of The THEATRES

ALL IN THE FAMILY

Salzburg Marionettes. It's daddy, mother and the two children on strings, when the Salzburg Marionettes appear on stage. Sometimes as many as 20 puppets are on stage at once, and how four people manage to avoid insoluble tangle, you'll have to guess for yourself.

Professor Hermann Aicher will bring his troupe to McCarter Theatre next Saturday, January 9, for two performances: a children's matinee of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in English at 2:30 and an adult performance of that classic New Year's entertainment, Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" at 8:30.

The Salzburg Marionettes were founded in 1913 by Professor Aicher's father, and the current repertoire consists of 150 plays, operas and children's entertainments.

Although the enterprise is indeed a family one, outsiders are called on to contribute their skills. Leading directors from the Vienna Burgtheatre serve as directors of the marionette productions; puppet faces are moulded by professional sculptors; scenery is designed by artists from the Vienna Staatsoper and the recordings used (as in "Die Fledermaus") are those of the Vienna Philharmonic.

. . . AND MERRIMENT

Comics on Film. "Mirth and Merriment" is the theme for a Festival within a Festival at McCarter Theatre. (You'll recall that January is "Jubilee" month at McCarter)

The Festival will be held on Friday, January 8, at 8 p.m. with Alec Guinness and "The Lavender Hill Mob" as the star attractions. The program will also include Laurel & Hardy, W.C. Fields, Harold Lloyd, Mr. Magoo and two contemporary cartoons: "The Interview" and "The Violinist," both by Ernest Pintoff.

BRUBECK!

And Colleagues. Piano, bass, drums, saxophone and Brubeck. The ingredients will all be present on Saturday, January 16, in McCarter at 8:30.

Paul Desmond, saxophone has been with Brubeck since 1951, when the addition of his alto sax transformed the Dave Brubeck Trio into the Dave Brubeck Quartet. Joe Morello, drums, arrived in 1956 and Gene Wright, bass, in 1958.

The Quartet has had some pleasing success in the past few months with experiments in poly-rhythms — "Time Out" "Time Farther Out" and "Countdown in Ohter Space."

Nearly a decade has passed since the celebrated SALZBURG MARIONETTE THEATRE last visited our shores. In the past ten years, this world-renowned troupe has given adults' and children's performances on nearly every continent and built up a repertoire of 150 operas, plays, and fairy tale entertainments, utilizing over 1,500 puppet characters.

For the Children:
SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS
(in English)

The stories told by the Brothers Grimm have amused and fascinated children generation after generation. The familiar characters of "Snow White," her valiant prince, the wicked queen and the seven lovable dwarfs come back to life in the glorious production by the Salzburg Marionettes.

For Adults:
DIE FLEDERMAUS

The effervescent spirit of life in Johann Strauss' Vienna is delightfully captivating in this most authentic production—with the classic recording of Clemens Krauss. Wilma Lipp, Hilde Gueden and Anton Dermota accompanied by the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra. (In German) old airs and dances from Poland arranged by Alexander Tansman, will be performed in premiere by Andres Segovia when the "unchallenged grand master of the classic guitar" returns to McCarter on Thursday, January 14, at 8.30.

Senor Segovia will also include on his program, works by Weiss, Sor, Turina and Torrobia. The guitarist will also play his own transcriptions of pieces by Frescobaldi and Bach.

VAN RONK IS COMING

To Sing "Urban Blues." Dave Van Ronk, a pioneer in the urban blues revival, will give a concert at Alexander Hall on Saturday, January 9, at 8.30.

The folk artist has been described as having an approach "which is deeply indebted to the country blues, but is more of an interpretation than anything like an imitation." The assessment was made by Michael Goodwin, a reviewer for "Sing Out," a folk music publication.

The reviewer said that Mr. Van Ronk "has used the country blues to create a music" which is particularly valid for our own time and culture." Mr. Goodwin called Van Ronk's treatment of "Cocaine Blues" "a brilliant piece of work . . . clean, strong and intense."

The folk singer first appeared on the scene in 1957 and has since recorded for Folkways, Mercury and Prestige record companies. He has performed in coffee houses and on college campuses from coast to coast.

His Princeton concert will be jointly sponsored by the Princeton Folk and Music Society and Arts at Princeton. Tickets, priced at $2, may be purchased at the Princeton University Store and the Princeton Music Center on Palmer Square or by writing to the Folk Music Society, Box 802, Princeton.

LAST FILM: "IRELAND

In Kiwanis Series. The Princeton Kiwanis Club will present a color motion picture entitled "Ireland" as its fourth and last program in the current travel-adventure series.

The film will be shown at the Princeton Playhouse on January 12 at 7.30 with Willis Butler narrating Mr. Butler, a veteran traveler, has been making documentary films for 24 years and has visited Europe, Africa, the Middle East and the Orient.

His film on Ireland includes shots of the Gaelic sport of hurling, Blarney Castle and the Blarney Stone, Cobh's Harbor and St. Colman's Cathedral. Admission price for adults is $1.50 per person and $1 for students.

Mr Butler, who has been granted audiences with several national leaders, has included a conversation with President Eamon DeValera in his film on Ireland. Other entertaining features of the motion picture are sequences of Irish dancing in Killarney and shopping in Shannon.

Bogart Rolls On

Two more films by the late Humphrey Bogart remain to be shown in McCarter Theatre's "Bogart In Retrospect" cycle, a series which has been making the film fans happy all during the fall.

"Key Largo" will be shown next Wednesday and "Treasure of Sierra Madre" on Wednesday, January 13, and then the house lights dim, to go up again early in February when McCarter opens its Hitchcock series.

Both the Bogarts will start at 8 p.m. "Key Largo" is, of course, an adaptation of the Maxwell Anderson play, directed by John Huston and released in 1948.

PLAYHOUSE & PRINCE

Father Goose. (now showing) Cary Grant portrays a real slob through most of this film, somewhat in the Humphrey Bogart tradition. He's a derelict washed up on the shores of a Pacific island who is useful to Australian Commander Trevor Howard as a spy on the Japanese. His code name is "Mother Goose."

He soon has to rescue Leslie Caron and her seven schoolgirl charges, war refugees from Rabaul. The plot then becomes the old story of the missionary lady and the beach bum, which Grant's superb acting rescues from banality.

GARDEN

Murder Ahoy. (Opens Thurs.) Margaret Rutherford is again Agatha Christie's bustling amateur detective, Miss Marple. The plot involves burglary, mayhem, romance and ship-to-shore signals. There is one incomparable shot of Miss Rutherford screwing up her face, saying, "Are you implying that I am unhinged?"

The old lady is confronted with the sudden death of a fellow trustee of the Cape of Good Hope Youth Reclamation Center. Since "the poor man passed over before he was able to pass on whatever it was," Miss Rutherford sets off, in nautical attire, to investigate.

The film is the fourth in a series. Compared to its predecessors, it has fewer nonsensical side-issues, but Miss Rutherford, as a go at murder again in fine style.

HIS CHOICE IS UNIQUE: In naming Andrei Gromyko as the person who has had the most influence on world events in 1964, Francis X. Critchlow, owner of the Travelex agency, is the only one who made such a choice. For his reasons, see below. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: For better or for worse, who do you think has had the greatest influence on world events in 1964?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Francis X. Critchlow, Harbourton, owner of Travelex travel agency, 70 Nassau Street. Andrei Gromyko as an example of influence for the worse. I feel that he generates the power of the Soviet Union and it is he who forms their policy.

Allen Hill, Yardley, Pa., employee Western Electric Research Center, Carter Road: Probably DeGaulle. Seems like any controversy that comes up, he's got his opinions and, usually, they are opposed to what the U.S. and her allies have agreed upon. Yet he is supposed to be a member of the Western bloc. I don't think his opinions carry much weight, but by going against the grain of Western opinion, he keeps the policies which the U.S. hopes to establish in a constant state of turmoil.

Miss Mary Lou Grady 252 Fisher Place, Penns Neck, laboratory assistant, Rutgers Medical School: I think probably Martin Luther King because I feel he has done more to promote the civil rights bill for his people than anyone. I think he did it diplomatically and with patience and understanding, considering all he's been through.

William Harnet, Washington Crossing, Pa., adjuster: I'd say Goldwater because of his negative, destructive approach. He never came out with anything constructive, merely saying whatever anybody else was doing was wrong. I think he paralyzed our allies on the basis that he just might get in.

Jose C. Nieto, 217 Harrison Street, Princeton Theological Seminary. I say Khrushchev, because he acted contrariwise to what was expected of him. He proved to be quite moderate and not the radical expected from Russia. He tried to keep the peace during crises. Although on occasion he was bold, he nevertheless realized he was going too far in Cuba. He could see the other side of the consequences and so he, therefore, was one of the greatest contributors to world events.

Kenneth Pelke, Westerly Road, student at Bates College. As far as an influence on events to come, I think we have to put the finger on DeGaulle. He is still upsetting all our pat plans which we thought we could depend on.

Mrs. Robert Szczarba, 17 Hardin Road, housewife: President Johnson. At a time when we thought we were in a very bad situation after the assassination of President Kennedy — a condition which worried other countries as well — he was able to pick up the pieces and do very well. He was able to get bills passed through Congress that we'd hoped would pass, so I think he had a great influence on world events in 1964.

Mrs. Connie Turner, 54 Maple Street, employee of Gallup & Robinson advertising research: I think the Negro man and woman have had the greatest influence. They are trying very honestly to work out their fight for equality without creating a white backlash. On the one hand you have Martin Luther King and on the other Malcolm X and in the middle are the average Negro man and woman working out their place in the community.

John McCullen, 22 College Road, assistant Professor, Princeton University: Right now, in the present climate, I'd say the Buddhist leaders in Viet Nam. I don't know if their influence is for better or worse but certainly they are creating an enormous amount of turmoil. The U.S. is not guiltless in its efforts to juggle the politics of Viet Nam, but the reaction of the Buddists doesn't lead to stability either.

Mrs. Anne Chiddenton, Cherry Hill Road, owner of Mr. Roberts beauty salon: Johnson, of course, because of his trying to make a better place for all of us to live — his Great Society. I think he's for all the people.

Al Barrett, Trenton, teacher: It has to be Johnson, of course, because of the very nature of his being president of the most powerful country on earth but, aside from that, I would say DeGaulle. De Gaulle has put American policy on edge for so long and this time he is parlaying all the influence he can to make one supreme France.

F. A. Deininger, 134 Hickory Court, sales manager for Magic Chef: I think probably Johnson

Four Are Foresighted

Four of those who were asked this week's Question —several days before Time Magazine nominated President Johnson as its Man of the year—agreed that he, "for better or for worse," had had the greatest influence on world events during 1964. That has always been Time's formula for the selection, and it was the basis for TOWN TOPICS' Question in the current issue.

Last week, a surprising number of sports fans forecast the upset which saw the Cleveland Browns defeat the Baltimore Colts to win the National Football League title. Eight of them did so, but understandably, no one predicted that the Colts would be shut out.

Closest estimate to the 27-0 final was the pick by John Marcus of 77 Grover Avenue: Browns, 24 to 10.

IT WAS A GOOD YEAR: And to prove it, there's a check for $39,862. The Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital has given to the hospital a check in that amount representing proceeds of the annual June Fete. George W. Conover, president of the board of trustees, receives the gift from the co-chairmen of the Fete, Mrs. John C. Whitwell (left) and Mrs. John J. Fischer.

In football, Cosmo Iacavazzi became the first Princetonian to earn All-American honors for two years in a row since Dick Kazmaier. Coincidentally, the team's 9-for-9 record was the Tigers' first perfect season since 1951.

The fall was also marked by participation on the part of a number of Princetonians in the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo. Bradley captained the team which retained this nation's championship in basketball, while 17-year old Lesley Bush, Princeton High School senior, won a Gold Medal in women's platform diving. The colorful parade given by the community in her honor upon her return was one of the most heart-warming events the town has known in many years.

Hun School, too, enjoyed the pleasures of a championship season when its football team won all eight games to finish undefeated for the first time since 1938. The Red and Black won the Penn-Jersey League title under the guidance of Coach Hawley Waterman.

At Princeton High, greatest success in team sports came in track, Gerald Groninger's athletes compiling a 9-3 record. The football team recorded a welcome 27-6 victory over arch-rival Trenton High to brighten a disappointing 3-5-1 season, while the current basketball team marked the end of 1964 by setting an all-time record of 112 points in defeating Long Branch.

Move On. Most Princeton residents will remember 1964 as a year of new buildings and new moves. Princeton Bank and Trust moved the whole bank into brand new quarters in the brand new 70 Nassau Building (the one with the fountain that was suddenly overflowing with suds — remember?)

Princeton Hospital began its expansion program, the Borough learned that it would some day own the Miss Fine's School building, Princeton Day Schools broke ground on The Great Road, Somerset Presbyterian Church became the first church to be organized on a football field, (Palmer Stadium, during the Presbyterian Rally last spring) and Second Presbyterian Church decided to spend $80,000 on rehabilitation of its Chambers Street building instead of moving to The Great Road.

Ahead? The outside seemed to be moving in, in 1964, and 1965 may find it all the way in the door. Will Route I-95 go through Princeton Township? Hopewell Township? Montgomery Township? Will the Township's 1964 acquisitions of Open Space — the Harrop property joining Community Gardens, a 22-acre strip by the canal, the 92-acre Poe tract gift — be enough to keep the outside out? It should be a year worth watching.

for the way in which he took hold of the country after Kennedy. He's done a good managerial job. He's taken over in a very efficient way, certainly, and he ran the past presidential election efficiently, too.

Herman Ermolaev, 10 E. Stanworth Drive, assistant professor, Princeton University. Mao Tse-Tung. I think the Chinese have moved into the foreground in international events, especially this year. There are a number of reasons. One, their explosion of an atomic device; two, their influence in causing the removal of Khrushchev; three, the role the Chinese have played in Africa. Undoubtedly they are helping to stir up rebellion there against the Western powers, and of course you have to count the decision of Red China to enter or not the war in Viet Nam. So for all these reasons, I think if you had to name any one single person who influenced this year's events more than another it would be Mao.

Eric Sellix, Blair Hill, Princeton University junior. Goldwater. For one thing, he caused the greatest international stir of the year—if not the greatest, certainly one of the larger ones. Closer to home, Goldwaterism found many Americans disregarding public opinion. Twenty - six million voted for him which is a fair amount of people and although his campaign was a mistake, he did come up with some remarkable truths about our government.

Miss Clare Harper, Newtown, Pa., secretary for Richard Chorlton, Princeton architect: I think Mao Tse-Tung as leader of the Chinese Reds. Their explosion of an atomic bomb device will have more of a long term effect than, say, Johnson and his victory. I feel the Chinese are bound to become more powerful as time goes on.

Can a Christmas Day get?

Enough to set a record for a December heat-wave, anyway. It's a matter of fact that on December 25, 1964, the thermometer hit 68.

The last part of this year and the first part of next will be more normal, the Man reports. Temperatures will average around 35; no unusual precipitation is in sight.

remarked Mayor Wilson after Administrator Joseph R. Nini had ticked off operating accounts balances for the year now ending, and arrived at a surplus of $40,599.39. Last year, the surplus was $51,039.18 and in 1962, $39,200.

Committee passed the $255,000 Great Road sewer extension ordinance, providing for construction of a sewer from the intersection of Stuart Road and The Great Road, as realigned. It will serve the Ridgeview - Drakes Corner - Great Road area, and has been recommended for a long time by the Township Board of Health.

By April 1, Township employees will be able to spread out their work and flex their elbows. That's the date for completion of the temporary new office building that will be built on the slight rise adjoining Township Hall. Construction will begin January 15, said Township engineer Frank Quinby.

Mayor Wilson announced that the Open Space Commission would meet January 12 in the Valley Road School auditorium to discuss the rehabilitation of the Delaware and Raritan Canal for Open Space purpose.

MAN HANGS HIMSELF

At Princeton Inn. A 37-year-old man hanged himself some time on Christmas day at the Princeton Inn, Borough Police reported.

Douglas M. Dougherty was found hanging from a noose he had fashioned from his own belt and attached to a shower curtain rod in the bathroom. The body was discovered at 12:29 p.m. Saturday by William B. Russell, a maintenance man at the Inn who climbed through a window, after a maid reported she had been unable to enter the room for some time.

Dr. Leonard M. Berry, who was summoned to the Inn, said death was due to strangulation. Dr. Berry estimated that Mr. Dougherty had been dead since some time the night before.

Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan said the victim left no notes. He added that Mr. Dougherty was employed by the First National Bank of Princeton about five years ago. When he registered, Mr. Dougherty gave his address as the Princeton Club, Philadelphia.

FIREMEN GO TO MORVEN

Through Alarm System Error. A human error in the transmission of an alarm system signal, originating in Trenton, resulted in firemen speeding to Morven, the Governor's Mansion on Stockton Street, a few minutes before midnight Monday.

At 11:52 p.m., a signal sounded in Borough police headquarters, indicating a fire on the first floor of Morven. The desk officer sounded a general alarm.

"We have a set policy," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan, "that whenever that alarm sounds after 7 p.m., we automatically call a general alarm. Morven is so old that we can't take any chances."

Chief McCrohan said that at the time he happened to be at the No. 3 firehouse on Chestnut Street with Sgt. James Koplner and Ptl. Donald Forward. They notified Governor Hughes and sped to Morven. "I think the trucks from No. 3 were there even before the alarm sounded," he said.

At Morven, the governor, Chief McCrohan, Fire Chief Robert Mooney and the two officers checked the entire premises for fire. They found nothing. Governor Hughes who had been entertaining guests at the time, thanked the police and the firemen for their efficiency, Chief McCrohan said.

About ten minutes after the first alarm sounded, Trenton called back to say that its operator had mistakenly pushed the wrong key. What was intended was an alarm indicating there was something amiss in an industrial firm in the Township. Detective Fred Porter of the Township reported the police checked the firm and found nothing more than a short in the system.

The ADT alarm system is an electric protective alarm system developed by the Automatic Communications Equipment, Inc. It has installed alarm systems in buildings and stores in Princeton and elsewhere. These alarm boxes are connected to surrounding police desks which in turn are hooked up to a central system located in Trenton.

To Swear In Magistrate.

Glen B. Miller Jr., 243 Russell Road, will be sworn in as Township magistrate Thursday at 4.30 in the library of Community Park School.

Mr. Miller will take the oath of office from his close friend, Clifton C. Bennett, judge of Mercer County Court. The new magistrate succeeds James S. Hill who resigned his post this fall.

MERGER PROPOSED

By West Windsor Board. A new move has developed in the school districts' chess game. West Windsor Township is seeking the formation of a regional school district with Princeton Borough and Township.

The West Windsor Board of Education voted last week to send a written proposal to the Borough and Township school boards, suggesting a unified education program, kindergarten through high school.

The letters have since been received by Graham Rohrer, Borough board president, and Richard Pearson, president of the Township Board. The Township unit will meet on January 21, and the Borough on January 26.

The West Windsor vote came at the suggestion of President William B. Craig, who said he had talked unofficially with a member of the Princeton Township board. Details of the proposal have not been made public.

Agreement Through 1970. As the chess game now stands, West Windsor's agreement to send its high school pupils to Princeton Borough extends through 1970. Hopewell Borough and Montgomery Township have been asked by the Borough board to find another high school by September 1965, on the plea of overcrowded classrooms.

Hopewell Borough, in turn, has joined with Hopewell Township and Pennington Borough in a regionalization proposal which won voter approval on December 14. The new Hopewell Valley Regional School District becomes effective July 1, 1965.

Since the authorized additions to Central High School in Pennington will probably not be completed by Princeton Borough's deadline, Mr. Rohrer told TOWN TOPICS that Hopewell Borough will "probably be given an extension."

This leaves Montgomery Township, currently completing a 19-room addition to its elementary school and renting classrooms in Princeton Township's Riverside School, pondering its next move on the chess board.

TRENTON YOUTH KILLED

In Route 1 Accident. Nathan Holmes, 20, of Trenton, was critically injured Christmas eve in an accident on fog-covered U.S. 1 at the intersection of Alexander Road in West Windsor Township. He died 6:50 a.m. Saturday in Princeton Hospital of multiple injuries.

Mr. Holmes was a passenger in a car driven by his brother, Levi, 23, who, State Police say, probably failed to see a car slowing down for the light at Alexander Road. The Holmes' car rammed the rear of a car driven by Robert Jablonsky, 31, of Clifton, spun around and hit a second car, also stopped for the light, operated by Ro-

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By Archimedes (Bernard)

On a cold, windy December day — she was like a breath of spring when she visited our salon for the first time.

Seventy - seven years young — a regular reader of our "Beauty On The Square" — she wanted (and I quote) "a really good Permanent . . . a style that was all femininity and easy-to-care-for. I don't have my hair done as often as in the past, but when I do, I want the best."

Janice, a member of my top-flight staff, gave her the extra care that clients coming to and shopping on the Square expect — and receive. She emerged with a coiffure that enhanced her own inner - radiance. The smiling approval in her husband's eyes when he called for her made it easy to see why she was seventy - seven years young — not old.

It is incidents like this that make me pause and give thanks for the joy and satisfaction I have found in being in business in Princeton — a wonderful place — delightful people!

Visit Tavernwood at 69 Palmer Sq. West or call 924-3983, and from this day forward make Your Crowning Glory worthy of its name!

$1,000 FOR HEART EQUIPMENT: A check for $1,000 has been given to Princeton Hospital by the Mercer County Heart Association for the purchase of special equipment for the hospital's cardiopulmonary laboratory. The check came from funds raised by the heart association in its annual spring drive. Dr. Aaron J. Heisen (left), president of the Mercer County Heart Association, is shown presenting the check to Walter A. Seligman, associate administrator of Princeton Hospital. Mrs. Theodore T Tams, chairman of volunteers for the Princeton area, and Archie G. Lummis, treasurer of the association's fund campaign, watch the presentation.

bert K. Behrmann, 28, of Trenton.

Levi Holmes suffered fractured ribs and internal injuries. He is listed in fair condition at Princeton Hospital.

In the Borough, Robert E. Steen, 17, of Plainsboro, was ticketed for careless driving, following a three-car mishap at the intersection of Harrison Street and Hamilton Avenue.

Steen, driving on Harrison, told police he saw the light change at Hamilton when he was about 135 feet away and didn't think he would be able to stop in time. He blew his horn and kept going, he said.

His car struck the right rear of a car operated by Eugene Mayberry, 33, 39 Humbert Street, spun around and backed into the front of a car stopped for the light at Hamilton. The third car was driven by Mary F. Hill, 56, 57 Murray Place.

Mr. Mayberry told police he saw the light turn green, entered the intersection and when he saw the Steen car bearing down on him, he stepped on the accelerator to try to get out of the way. Police reported Steen's car left 63 feet of skid marks. It had to be towed away.

Last Time? Last Wednesday, the Mercer Street bridge may have been hit for the last time in 1964. The narrow bridge whose structure dates back to the days of the American Revolution has been the scene of many accidents over the years.

As many drivers have been who have floundered on the sharp curves approaching the bridge, the most recent victim was from outside the Princeton area. He is Michael F. Spicer, 32, of Livingston.

Mr. Spicer told Township police he lost control as he approached the bridge traveling between 35-40 miles per hour. He bounced off a wall of the bridge and hit a car driven by Thomas E. Dey, 45, of Trenton. The impact caused Mr Spicer to be thrown from his small foreign car but he sustained only a laceration of the forehead.

The accident occurred at 5:30 p.m. Both cars were extensively damaged.

Last Tuesday, John D. Collinson, 17, 347 Mercer Road, skidded on a wet and slippery Great Road.

Collinson's car skidded sideways, crossed at the William H. Sayen property, blew a tire and knocked down two mailboxes belonging to the Sayens. Uninjured, Collinson was charged with careless driving by Lt. Richard Steiner of the Township police.

THREE ARE FINED

In Borough Court. A professor at Davidson College, North Carolina, and two Princeton residents were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Alexander Beck, 33, of Davidson, N.C., and Herman S. Ermolaev, 40, 10 E. Stanworth Drive, an assistant professor at Princeton University, appeared before Magistrate Tams, following their arrest Christmas night by Ptl. Russell Shangle who charged them as being disorderly persons.

TARGET—FEBRUARY 1966: Excavation has begun for the Borough's John Witherspoon School, Walnut Lane and Guyot opposite the high school playing fields. The drawing shows the cluster of separate "schools" for kindergarten, primary, intermediate and upper grades around a core containing facilities used by all. These include the library, auditorium cafeteria, gymnasium, art room and administration offices. Ernest J. Kump Associates, New York, is the architect; B.J. Builders Inc. of West Long Branch is the general contractor.

Professor Beck was fined $20 for using loud and indecent language. A charge of interfering with a police officer while making an arrest lodged against Professor Ermolaev was dismissed. Both men pleaded not guilty.

Pfl. Shangle testified that he arrested them for creating a disturbance on Palmer Square West at 7 p.m. Christmas night. Both were later released on $25 bail.

In traffic court, John W. Bennit, 34, Lakeside Apartments, was fined $15 for speeding, and Thomas H. Turner, 21, 224 John Street, $10, as an unlicensed driver. Both pleaded guilty.

The Division of Motor Vehicles announced the suspension of the licenses of Ronald G. Sheehan, 22, of Cranbury and William Cox, 41, 120 Leigh Avenue, for two and one months respectively under its point system. George McGowan, 41, 246 John Street, lost his license for 30 days for speeding.

TOWNSHIP NOW URBAN

Signs with County. Princeton Township officially became part of the Metropolitan Area of Trenton Tuesday when Mayor William L. Wilson signed an "Open Space" agreement with Mercer County Freeholder Richard Coffee.

It's all a matter of definition. In its pursuit of land for Open Space, Princeton Township would like to be able to tap the Federal government for 30% of the purchase price of any particular plot of land.

However, the Federal authorities will only pay that 30% to "urban areas." Non-urban areas get only 20%, and not even Princeton Township and Princeton Borough combined, qualify as "urban" in big-city Federal eyes.

But "greater Trenton" is indeed urban, and by signing up with Mercer County, the Township automatically becomes eitified enough to merit the 30%.

Any Township "Open Space" plans must be approved by the County Planning Board before they can qualify for the 30%; however, plans that are not approved can still draw 20% Federal assistance.

The Township is the first Mercer County municipality to sign the new agreement and the Borough will possibly be next. So far, the Borough hasn't committed itself to a full "Open Space" program, and Borough officials would probably rather sign as a separate municipality to maintain flexibility in their "Open Space" acquisition.

$25,000 IN GEMS TAKEN

From Lawrenceville Home. Police are investigating the disappearance of ~$25,000 in gems from the Lawrence Township home of Charles Wolf, 4 Burning Tree Lane.

Mr. Wolf told police the jewelry belonged to his wife, who died December 21 in a New York hospital. Among the nine items taken, he said, was a $10,000 emerald cut diamond ring. The ring, a diamond-studded wrist watch, pearls, gold rings and other jewelry had been stolen from Mrs. Wolf's bedroom bureau. There was no sign of any forced entry, police said.

Mr. Wolf is a partner in a handbag manufacturing firm located in Ewing Township.

GIFTS FOR SANTA

Merchants Contribute. Henry Schultz, Princeton's perennial Santa Claus, is remembered each year by gifts from Princeton merchants. These gifts, plus his small pension, sustain the blind Santa who answers each year the excited little voices that call him on the telephone to say "Please bring me. . ."

Contributing merchants are: Al Ross' Sinclair Station, Anthony's, Artistic Hairdressers, Harry Ballot, Carnegie Realty, Clark Dodge, H. P. Clayton, Douglas MacDaid, Edith's Lingerie Shop, Esquire Luncheonette, Food Mart, Mrs. L. T. Getty, Grover Lumber, Gourmet.

Also Harris Department Store, Walter B. Howe, Hinkson's J. T. Henderson Associates, Kase Kleaners, Henry Kalmus, Lahiere's Restaurant, Laidlaw, K. M. Light Real Estate, Maurice Pearce, Nassau Delicatessen, Nassau Pharmacy, Princeton Bookbinding and Goldstamping, Nassau Barbershop, NEAT Delicatessen, Pakman's.

Also the Pink Elephant, Princeton Fuel Oil, Princeton Stationers, Queenston Builders, Radio Center, J. B. Redding, Rosedale Mills, Rug Mart, Schusters' Fine Arts, Ski Shop, Stuff 'n Nonsense, Tiger Auto, Tolo's Market, Town Topics, Thorne's, Travelex, Viking Furniture, Wash-o-Mat, Wilcox Pharmacy, Wine & Game, Betty Wright Shop.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK

To Chamber Members. Governor Richard J. Hughes will be the speaker at the fourth annual dinner dance of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, to be held January 16 in the Prince William Room of the Nassau Inn.

"Dateline: Princeton" is the theme of the affair, according to Alan G. Frank, president. Loar L. Quickle, of the Princeton University Store, and Dan D. Coyle, University Administration, are co-chairmen.

Table reservations are available at the chamber office on Palmer Square, 921-7676, or from Ted Reed, The Gulick Agency, 350 Nassau Street, 924-1511.

YWCA TERM TO BEGIN

Registration Next Week. Residents wishing to participate in the YWCA's winter term of classes and activities may register beginning Monday and from 9 to 5 on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Youngsters will be able to study ballet for the first time or participate in gym tumbling and stunts for toddlers. The 3 and 4-year-olds can sign up for the courses in order to learn coordination and rhythm.

Mrs. Priscilla Maren will instruct the music workshop classes for the youngest YWCA members while Mrs. Robert Davis teaches the coordination-ballet class. For the slightly older, there will be modern dance and oil painting instruction as well as swimming and diving classes.

Teenagers will have the opportunity to learn dress-making, tumbling or social dancing. The courses will be offered for girls at the junior high and high school levels.

Mrs. Irving Levy will teach a new class in Hebrew for adults and other familiar activities including sewing and lessons in the art of cooking. Mrs. Eileen Rebeman will be in charge of the course on the preparation of cuisine.

Registrations for any activities must be made in person at the YWCA. Classes are scheduled to begin on January 11 and continue for 10 weeks unless otherwise noted in the course catalogue.

'Y' TO ANSWER WHYS

Of Prospective College Girls. The Princeton YWCA has initiated a program for high school girls in the area who would like to learn more about college life.

The association has planned a series of trips to campuses in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey to acquaint prospective college students with various aspects of college life. The girls will visit dormitories, classrooms, student union and other facilities.

Those interested in the program are urged to sign up with the YWCA teenage program director, Mrs. Janet Humes. All trips will be made on Saturdays with a small fee for transportation. The Y also announced that it has organized a class in sewing for teenagers which will be taught by Mrs. Jean Rossitter from January 12 through March 16.

13 TO SEEK 9 SEATS

On Regional School Board. Thirteen candidates will seek nine seats on the new Hopewell Township Regional School Board created by a successful December 14 referendum vote. The new board for which voting will take place on February 2, will serve the municipalities of Hopewell Township, Hopewell Borough and Pennington.

Hopewell Township's greater area and population is reflected in the number of seats it will have—six. There, Philip Alampi, State Secretary of Agriculture, is unopposed for a three-year term. John S. Cartwright and Robert M. Applebaum, incumbents, and Rudulph H. Hertzog are vying for the two two-year terms.

Six men have announced they will seek the Township's three one- year seats. They are Malcolm G. Magner, Thomas Kinter and Robert Kinney, all incumbents, and Christian P. Hansen, Lester E. Abbott and James Johnson.

In Pennington, a three-year seat being sought by Gerald D. Silliphant and incumbent James C. Miller. A two-year term is being contested by incumbent Howard F. Thruman and John A. Meyers.

In Hopewell Borough, Richard G. VanDoren is unopposed as that community's single representative on the Board. He will serve for three years.

LECTURE SERIES PLANNED

On Ayn Rand's Philosophy. Nathaniel Branden, founder of an institute which bears his name, will lecture on "Objectivism," the philosophy of Ayn Rand, beginning on Wednesday, January 13 at the Princeton Inn.

The lecture will be the first in a series of 20 which will be given weekly with the help of a tape recorder. Admission to the series is priced at $2 for all but students, who will be admitted for $1.50.

The Nathaniel Branden Institute, located in New York City, was formed to offer lectures on Miss Rand's philosophy. The series is being presented in more than 50 cities in the United States and Canada.

TO CHOOSE MAN OF YEAR

In Hightstown. The Greater Hightstown Jaycees will select an area "Man of the Year" for 1964 who will receive a distinguished service award from the organization.

Any young man between the ages of 21 and 25 who lives or works in the area is eligible regardless of affiliation with the Jaycees Rex Hane is the chairman of the award committee.

Nominations for the honor should be submitted to the Distinguished Service Award Committee, 214 Greely Street, Hightstown, by Monday. A panel of area business and professional men will choose the winner.

PASTOR TO SPEAK

nesday, January 6, at 8 p.m. in the all-purpose room, Plainsboro School.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Jean Dorgan, Mrs. Dorothy Ingebrand and Mrs. Eleanor Nowacky.

SCHOOL TO REOPEN

For Adults on Jan. 21. The winter term of the Princeton Adult School will begin on Thursday evening, January 21, and continue for ten weeks through March 25. Those wishing to participate are encouraged to apply promptly, as the courses are limited in size.

A full description of the term's courses will appear in TOWN TOPICS next week with a coupon for mailing registration. One new course this year will be on paleontology, in which Prof. Erling Dorf of Princeton University will describe the natural history of plants and animals. The course will be illustrated.

A workshop course entitled "Design Your Easter Bonnet" will be available to those interested in learning the professional way to make and design hats. Miss Josephine Cichon of Trenton will instruct the course.

Instruction on the technique for using office machines will be offered by William Bux of Princeton High School. He will concentrate on the handling of key punch, calculators and bookkeeping machines.

Mrs. Yung-Chi Chen will again provide instruction in the preparing of Chinese dishes. The course on cookery was available during the fall term, when an excess of applications were filed.

BIRTHS

One For Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Wojciechowicz of 273 Hamilton Avenue became parents of a girl on Christmas Day at Princeton Hospital.

ADULT SCHOOL LECTURER: Prof. Erling Dorf will give a course on paleontology in the winter term of the Adult School starting January 21.

Eleven children were born at the hospital last week; eight were girls.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Kostandin Sotir, Fleecydale Road, Lumberville, Pa., December 20; Mr. and Mrs. James L. Betts, 28 Clay Street, and Dr. and Mrs. Jack L. Roemer, 24 Allwood Drive, Trenton, both on December 21; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Delbo, Woodsville Road, Hopewell, December 22; Mr. and Mrs. Will Anderwald, Allentown, December 24; Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Donath, 124 Heather Lane, December 26, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Swearer, Skillman Road, Skillman, December 27.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goldman, 113 Washington Crossing Road, Pennington, December 23; Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Lee, 2 Sturgis Road, Kendall Park, and Mr. and Mrs. William Suto, 20 Hagemount Avenue, Hightstown, both on December 24.

A daughter, Emily, was born December 23 to Mr. and Mrs. David Watts of Baltimore at Johns Hopkins Hospital. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Knox of Mountain Avenue.

AAUW TO MEET

For Public Service Talk. "Sound Development of the Greater Princeton Area" is the subject chosen by Clayton S. Cronkwright, general manager for area development of Public Service, for a talk before members of the Princeton Branch Association of University Women.

The meeting will be held Wednesday, January 6, at 8:15 p.m., Riverside School. Hostesses will be Mesdames Clair Zepp, Michael Lurie and Michael Mahoney.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

For Hospital Nominations. The nominating committee for Princeton Hospital's board of trustees has been formed to receive names for a slate of five trustees.

George W. Conover, president of the board, appointed the committee which will choose a slate to be inducted into office at the annual meeting of the hospital corporation on Monday, February 22, in the Princeton High School auditorium. Nominations for the board will open on January 8 and will close on February 6.

James S. Hill has been chairman of the committee and the other members are Dr. Robert S. Garber, Moore Gates Jr., William Sayen III and Mrs. J. H. Mathey. Board members whose terms expire on February 22 are Mr. Conover, Mr. Hill, Dr. Aims C. McGuinness, Laurence Ward Jr. and John C. Whitwell.

NEW TERMINAL OPENED

By Suburban Transit. The Suburban Transit Corporation has opened a new bus terminal in Princeton.

Located at 92 Nassau Street, the terminal will be open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. The ticket office and bus information center replaces Western Union at the corner of Witherspoon Street and Nassau. Bus information is available by calling 924-7750.

EIGHT IN TOURNAMENT

PCD Reunion at Buffalo. When the first annual Nichols School Hockey Tournament is played in Buffalo this weekend among Dartmouth, Princeton, Williams and Yale, eight Princeton Country Day School alumni will see action.

Adding to the interest here is the fact that the only town or city in the nation represented on all four competing teams is Princeton. Three residents of this area play for the Tigers, two for Dartmouth's Ivy League champions and one each for Williams and Yale.

Seeing action for the Orange and Black will be defenseman

SPORTS In Princeton

TIGERS SET PRECEDENT

With First Ivy Win in ECAC. Princeton's basketball team defeated Syracuse Monday in Madison Square Garden and thereby accomplished what no other member of the Ivy League had been able to do since the Holiday Festival Tournament was launched a dozen years ago.

The Tigers broke open a close contest in the second half to hand the taller Orangemen a convincing 79-69 defeat in the tournament sponsored by the Eastern College Athletic Conference. It was the first time that a member of the Ancient Eight had won its opening game, thereby attaining a spot in the semi-finals.

Princeton's reward may not be enviable, as the triumph paired it against the No. 1 team in the nation, Michigan. The Tigers were scheduled to go against the Big Ten Champions Wednesday night at 7:30, but win or lose, they will have a place in the triple-header which winds up the event on Saturday.

More than 15,500 basketball fans, who see the nation's top college teams and the play-for-pay quintets parade across the Garden floor, got a long look at Bill Bradley. When he had finished—with three minutes left and five fouls against him—he drew a whistling, cheering, standing ovation.

A Memorable Performance. The Princeton captain, who made such a memorable contribution to the sport when he led the victorious United States team, in the Tokyo Olympics, gave what is probably the best first-half performance of his career against Syracuse. One reason: when the teams last met, in Miami just a year ago, Bradley fouled out soon after the intermission and was held to his all-time low of 17 points.

The figure itself was not as important as the fact that he wanted to lead his team to victory over an opponent with which the Tigers had a score to settle. The result was a 23-point first half, despite the fact that three different Syracuse players took turns trying to hold the 6-5 All-American in check.

Best of all, Bradley got plenty of help. Before he, too, fouled out, Bob Haarlow contributed 18 points — 12 in the first half — and sophomore Gary Walters added 11.

After Bradley and Haarlow departed with three minutes left and Princeton protecting a 71-60 lead, another sophomore made a major contribution. With Syracuse in an all-court press, fouls were frequent in an attempt to gain possession. Big Ed Hummer was eight for eight at the free throw line, and despite Bradley's absence, the Tigers were never in danger.

See-saw First Half. Princeton led by five midway through the opening round, trailed by no more than three and left the floor on the optimistic side of a 45-44 count when Bradley hit on a short push with five seconds left.

He returned to give Princeton its first seven points, Haarlow and Walters added to the smoothly - functioning offense and when Syracuse began to hurry its shots, the final pattern of the game came clearly into view with almost eight minutes left. At 7:48, it was Princeton, 61-52, and the lead shortly before Bradley fouled out went as high as 71-56.

The Tiger captain hit for a season's high of 36 points on 11 field goals and 14 of 15 foul throws. It was on the free throw line that Princeton won, overcoming a Syracuse advantage of one (26-25) in field goals by sinking 29 of 36 foul shots while the losers made 17 of 23.

"NO THANKS!"

Bradley Won't Turn Pro. Ever since Bill Bradley came to Princeton as a freshman, he had been assigned to the New York Knickerbockers under the territorial draft rights exercised by the National Basketball League. Belief was widespread that his love of the game and a salary in the neighborhood of $20,000 would bring a decision to turn professional on completion of his undergraduate career.

Earlier this fall, however, the Tigers' All-American applied for a Rhodes Scholarship, and ten days ago word came that he was one of those selected from his home state of Missouri to spend two years at Oxford. He promptly accepted the honor, thus delaying at least until 1967 any affiliation with the Knicks.

Last week, any lingering hope of theirs that he might play for them vanished. Asked what his plans were after Oxford, Bradley said that he would enter a law school in this country, adding that he was currently undecided just where he would apply.

It has been 17 years since a Princeton basketball player turned professional. The man who did so was Bill van Breda Kolff, current Tiger coach, who played for several seasons with the Knicks before accepting a coaching job at Lafayette.

1,700 Deer In a Day

New Jersey's Department of Conservation and Economic Development has released a report showing that the state's hunters shot 1,777 deer on Saturday, December 19. The day's hunting amounted to a special permit "season" for New Jersey deer hunters.

Approximately 13,000 holders of special permits were permitted to shoot one deer apiece and bring it to a checking station by the Bureau of Wildlife Management. The total of deer killed in 1964 has been placed at more than 8,000 with some reports as yet not filled.

The figure represents a drop of about 800 from the number shot in 1963. During a regular six-day season and a concurrent hunter's choice season in the northeastern corner of the state, a total of 5,131 deer were reported shot.

Howard McMorris, a Bayard Lane resident, and forwards Steve Cook, who lives in Kingston, and George Peterson, whose home is on Boudinot Street. A fourth PCD alumnus, Bob Mueller, now lives in Villanova.

Sophomore Bill Smoyer of Olden Lane is a forward on the Dartmouth sextet. Starting at defense for the Green will be Charlie Stuart of Mercer Street. The Williams player is goalie Pete Hart of Jefferson Road, while Yale's representative is Dick Baker of Armour Road, who will be remembered by Princeton's team for having scored four goals against it in the game at New Haven last February.

After leaving PCD, all eight alumni added to their experience by attending prep schools where some of the top scholastic hockey in the east is played. Peterson, Smoyer and Stuart all went to Andover, the latter captaining one of the top teams in the school's history in 1961-62.

Cook starred for three years of St. Marks. Mueller is a St. Paul's graduate, McMorris was a starter on defense for Deerfield, Baker played for Groton and Hart went to St. George's.

First-round pairings in the Buffalo tournament, staged to dedicate a new rink and raise scholarship funds for the Nichols School, send Williams against Yale at 7:30 Friday night and Dartmouth against Princeton two hours later. The losers will play Saturday night at 7:30 with the tournament championship decided in a game starting at 9:30.

Princeton's sextet will be in action again in Baker Rink next Tuesday night at 8. Providence College, always an exponent of rugged hockey, will provide the opposition.

PHS SETS SCORING MARK

In Crushing Long Branch. Santa Claus came a day late for members of the Princeton High School basketball team, but the wait was well worth it, for tucked in his bag was a 112-69 victory Saturday over Long Branch. It was the highest point total ever amassed by a Little Tiger team in the school's history.

PHS thus finished third in the Asbury Park Bound Robin Tournament comprised of Asbury Park, Red Bank, Long Branch and itself. In the opening round, played December 12, the Little Tigers were stopped by the host school, Asbury Park, 79 to 65.

"The boys were just ready to go, I guess," said PHS coach Tony Borzok. "They had a good aim on the basket because everything they were throwing went through. They were dropping from all angles.

"We went into an early press," continued Tony, "and they just couldn't handle it on their part. And we took advantage of it. Sometimes those things work, sometimes they can backfire on you."

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is 924-2200.

TOP PHS SCORERS: The point totals of three Princeton High school basketball players have averaged 54.0 points a game through the school's first six contests. Colin Leitch (left) has connected for 117 points and Wilbur Hines (center) has hit for 111 for 19.5 and 18.5 averages, while captain Pete Heiberger has collected 96 points for a 16.0 mark. The three have upped the team scoring to 75.1 points per game—a sizeable increase over last year's 50.4 average for 18 games. (Staff Photo)

Forced into error by the harrassment of the press, Long Branch was easy prey for the Little Tigers. Still within hailing distance of the Blue and White at the half—45-33— it was hurried by a 41-one point onslaught in the third quarter.

Chief architects of the PHS attack, as they have been in every game so far for the Little Tigers, were Colin Leitch, Wilbur Hines and Captain Pete Heiberger. They combined for 70 points, a considerable achievement when one notes that last year the entire PHS team scored more than 70 points only once in 18 games. Leitch was high with 28 followed by Hines, 22, and Heiberger, 20.

Two others hit double figures Roger Madden tallied 12 and Dave Ness, 11, season highs for each. Overall, the team poured in points at a rate of 3½ per minute during the 32-minute contest.

The 112 points eclipsed the previous mark of 105 set six or seven years ago, according to Borzok, in the old Bordentown Military Institute gym. Ironically, PHS lost that one, 106 to 105.

Hightstown Easy. Last Tuesday, the Blue and White scored an easy 79-45 victory over visiting Hightstown. The home team outscored the Rams in every quarter, the most lopsided being a 20-8 third period.

Leading the way was Heiberger who scored a career high of 25 points. Hines had 20 and Leitch, 18.

Currently, 4-2, the Little Tigers will resume competition on Tuesday when they journey to Pennington High School. Whether the impetus of their smashing victory over Long Branch will carry over into 1965 was something Borzok could not say. "But," he remarked, "it's always nice to go back to school tasting of victory, especially one like that."

BOWLING NOTES

Papp's Back in Lead. Papp's Pro Shop swept its three games last week to regain possession of first place in the Three-Man Classic League. Wesp, the leader the week before, dropped to third place with 22½ points, a point and a half behind Johnson Electric and 2½ out of first.

Joe Baldino led the individual scoring with a high single game of 233 and a series of 612. Larry Golden bowled a 231, followed by Buddy Cavanaugh and Bill Dumble, 213 apiece; George Paris, 206; and Nick Scuierati, 200.

Tiger Garage held a seven-point lead, 62-55, in the Nassau League over Nassau Liquor and Grover Lumber, tied for second place. Bear Brook had 54 points in fourth place and Crescent's had 53 in the fifth spot.

Dumble's 240 score was high for the league. Other top scorers: Leo Maiorini, 221; Val Ranallo, 214; Bob Scuierati, 205; Jerry Perpetua, 203; Pete Piho, 202; and Mike Knpliner and Ernie Hunt, 201 each.

In the only other action in the vacation-abbreviated week, Triple C held a 13-point lead, 26-13, over the Tigers in the YMCA Blue Angels League for 15-year-olds. Harry Cahn had the high game, 153, and high series, 442, followed by Chris Wright with a 142 score and Curt Mitchell with a 138 game.

News Of The CHURCHES

PASTORS ORGANIZE

For Ephesians Study. The first meeting of pastors involved in the experimental "Ephesians Study" will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Messiah Lutheran Church. The Rev. Walter P. Carvin of Princeton Baptist Church, Penns Neck, is convenor.

Some 270 laymen and clergy are taking part in the interdenominational "Ephesians Study," sponsored by the Pastors' Association and the Princeton Christian Unity Committee.

According to the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist, Ephesians was chosen because "it is basic New Testament teaching that speaks to the everyday problems and people in the Twentieth Century. . . . Chapter II of Ephesians contains one of the strongest supports of integration, of unity. This is the great emphasis in Ephesians."

On Sunday January 10, the pastors will preach their first sermons on an agreed-upon text from Ephesians. Thirty-four study units in neighborhoods ranging from Kingston to Lawrenceville, Hopewell to Cranbury, will meet during the following week for discussions.

Participating clergy also include Robert R. Spears Jr. of Trinity Episcopal Church, president of the Pastor's Association Leon W. Gibson, Princeton Methodist; Luther H. Kriefall, Messiah Lutheran; Donald M. Meisel, First Presbyterian; F. Hugh Liffiton, Second Presbyteriaa; Charles G. Newbery, All Saints' Chapel; and James E. Andrews of Princeton Seminary, interim pastor of Witherspoon Presbyterian.

The study units will meet once a week for six weeks. Interested laymen may call Mrs. Margaret Partee (924-9178) for information on groups meeting in their neighborhood.

MRS. THOMAS ELECTED

By Second Church Guild. Mrs. Joseph S. Thomas has been named president of the Women's Guild of Second Presbyterian Church for the coming year. Mrs. James A. Rowan is vice-president.

Also elected are Miss Caroline M. Dixon, assistant secretary; Mrs. Constance Henderson, treasurer, and the following chairmen: Mrs. George C. Knaefler, fellowship; Mrs. Melville Young, membership; Mrs. John S. Holladay Jr., evangelism.

Mrs. James A. Rowan, program; Mrs. Fred E. Petke, spiritual life; Mrs. Thomas R. Good, World Serivce; Mrs. Arthur T. Fenton, finance, and Mrs. Walter M. Riggs, assistant finance chairman Mrs. Knaefler will also serve as chairman of the nominating committee.

SENATOR TO LECTURE

In Methodist Series. The opening speaker in the Methodists' "University of Life" series will be Senator George McGovern, of South Dakota. He will speak January 10 at the church on "The Gospel of Love in the World of Political Power."

New Year's Services

Watchnight will be held at Westerly Church from 9 to midnight on New Year's Eve. The early part of the evening will be devoted to a Billy Graham film, followed by refreshments and fellowship at 10:15 p.m. The service of praise and prayer begins at 11.

Lutheran Church of the Messiah will hold a worship service at 10 a.m. on New Year's Day. The Rev. Luther Kreifall will preach.

Princeton Methodist Church will have a special service of Holy Communion at the vespers hour of 4.30 Sunday, in place of the traditional Watchnight service. The Senior High youth group will assist the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Leon W. Gibson, and the High School Choir will sing.

The University of Life will be conducted as a joint program with the Wesley Foundation, founded at Princeton University 20 years ago.

Other speakers will be Dr. Colin Williams, head of the department of evangelism, National Council of Churches, who will discuss on February 14 "The Holy People in Secular Society," and Dr. Eugene L. Smith, executive secretary of the World Council of Churches in the United States, who will speak on "The Ecumenical Movement and the Methodist Heritage" on March 14.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr., bishop of the New Jersey Area of the Methodist Church, will close the series with a talk on "The Gospel in the New Nations" on May 2.

Each program will be preceded by discussions in the adult and high school classes at the Church School. Students, faculty and interested individuals will meet informally with the speaker at 4 p.m. in Murray-Dodge Hall. A church supper at 6 p.m. will be held prior to the evening lecture.

BULLETIN NOTES

Adult Classes. Dr. Kenneth L. Maxwell will lead a discussion group on "Man Amid Changes in World Affairs" beginning this Sunday at Calvary Baptist Church. Dr. Maxwell is executive director of the international affairs department of the National Council of Churches, New York City. Gordon R. Bolton, a member of the board of Christian education, will teach a class on the Book of Matthew. Both groups will meet at 10 a.m. every Sunday, January through March.

Speaker. A director of the Ethical Culture Union, Jak Rubenstein, will address the Ethical Culture Fellowship of Princeton at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Chapin School. Mr. Rubenstein is a past president of the Ethical Culture Society of Bergen County.

Youth Groups. A film on social drinking is planned for the First Presbyterian Church youth groups this Sunday. The program will be preceeded by 6.15 p.m. supper.

Two Services. Beginning this Sunday, Hillsborough Presbyterian church will hold worship services and church School at 9.30 and 11 a.m. The topic of the sermon to be given by the Rev. Edward O. Poole, pastor, is "A Construction Principle."

FIRE DAMAGES CAR

Parked on Dickenson St. The interior of a car parked on Dickenson Street was burned out by a fire which occured at 1:22 p.m. Monday.

Police said they had to force their way into the locked car to get at the fire. They called for one piece of apparatus to help them extinguish a blaze that burned out the entire front seat and charred a number of U. S. Navy uniforms in the rear seat.

Police said the car was owned by Danetta L. Gelman of Patterson. It had to be towed away.

NEW MAN IN TOWN

To Direct Recreation. Princeton's new recreation director has surveyed the town and found only one really serious problem. We'll get to it in a minute.

R. Donald Barr, a ruddy, handsome young man, serious of mein and dedicated in purpose, began on December 1 his new job as Recreation Director for Borough and Township, charged with the dual responsibility of developing Community Park, and working out a recreation program for Borough and Township.

"New job" of course, means exactly that because nobody has ever held this job before, and one of Mr. Barr's first assignments has been to work out recreation policies and procedures: "What do I do?" "What does the Joint Recreation Commission do?" "How do we keep from overlapping?"

In his first month in Princeton, the new recreation director, belted into the trench coat that is a souvenir of his Navy days, has explored every recreation facility in town, and talked to almost every Princeton resident who has ever been concerned with recreation.

"I Am Impressed." "I've been examining and evaluating all the facilities that are available," Mr. Barr explains earnestly. "I've seen all the schools —Borough and Township—and I looked over that gym at Miss Fine's School very thoroughly."

"We'll try to use whatever we can, and I understand that the University is most generous in allowing residents to use its tennis courts and ballfields."

Mr. Barr also visited Princeton's summer playground sites, now in dry-dock for the winter. "I certainly do commend the people who had the foresight to develop those areas as they did — with playground equipment, wading pools and everything, right in the neighborhoods where they are most accessible to children."

A Princeton Pool? Now, what about a community swimming pool? Mr. Barr has attended Township Committee meetings and has listened silently to comments from audience and Committee members, and he says, with a quiet smile, "I've been through this kind of thing before in other towns."

"We all know," he adds, "that there is definite need for a pool in Princeton."

The new recreation director has worked in communities where there were swimming pools, and in one where there was a large county pool, so his experience is varied and invaluable.

In preparation for his role in connection with Princeton's pool, he is making a study of many Eastern seaboard areas to see how pools have been developed and maintained and how their operation costs have been met. Mr. Barr is a thorough young man:

"You should make as many surveys and studies as possible to make sure that what you decide on is OK," he explains. "You must consider the type of pool you want, its exact location — many factors.

What Goes Where. Part of Mr. Barr's job in developing the whole of Community Park will be to block out with Clarke and Rapuano, landscape architects of the project, the placement of various activity areas, — skating rink, skating pond, tennis courts, pool complex. No detailed plans have ever been drawn for Community Park, only general ones, and specific plans must be down on paper before a pool, a rink or anything else, can be started, Mr. Barr points out.

I'll examine everything with as open a mind as I possibly can," Mr. Barr says, "so that we can develop what Princeton needs most."

A many-sided man in recreation, Mr. Barr does not have a compulsion about, say, basketball or duplicate bridge.

"I'd like to work out a broad, year-round program to meet the needs and interests of everyone. Tennis is big here,

Cory S. Kammler

A friend was talking about the forthcoming New Year, and said, "You know, man has been keeping tabs on the passing of time for as long as he has been able to write or chisel marks or symbols on walls or tablets. "It goes back into history so dim that we know little about it, but one of the strange things is that primitive tribes that could not have had communication with each other often kept track of time in very similar ways, as did ancient civilizations. "An Aztec calendar stone, representing the solar calendar, which has been traced back to the Mayan system of 400 B.C., was found embedded in an Aztec temple on the site of Mexico City. This gives proof that a solar calendar system was in use on the American continent at least 1800 years before Asian-European man apparently had any idea there was any other continent or any other people." It's obvious that the world is full of mysteries, but let there be no mystery about our sincere wishes for a most happy and prosperous New Year to YOU! Kammler Buick - Pontiac Co., Route 206 opp. Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mary N. Kearny, 81, of of 218 Hun Road, died December 27 in Middlesex Hospital New Brunswick, after a brief illness. She was the widow of Warren Kearny.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Laurance Runyon of Highland Park and Mrs. Arthur Carpender of Washington, D.C.

The service was held in Christ Episcopal Church, New Brunswick, the Rev. Walter Stowe officiating. Interment was private.

Memorial gifts may be made to the donor's preferred charity.

Mrs. Anna M. Mack, 91, died December 24 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry L. Schafer, Princeton-Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction. She was the widow of Charles Mack.

Born in Princeton, Mrs. Mack lived in Princeton Junction for the past 26 years.

Also surviving are a son, Raymond L.Mack of 15 Henderson Avenue; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A private service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Robert R. Spears Jr. of Trinity Church officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Contributions may be made to the Mercer Unit, N.J. Association for Retarded Children, 1015 Fairmount Avenue, Trenton, in memory of her granddaughter, Elizabeth Ann Schafer.

Nils Andersen, 83, of Forest Avenue, Griggstown, died December 21 in Princeton Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Nelsine K. Andersen.

Born in Norway, Mr. Andersen was a retired carpenter. He was a member of Griggstown Reformed Church, Carpenters Local 429 of Montclair and the Sons of Norway, Lief Ericksen Lodge 248 of Orange.

The service was held in Griggstown Reformed Church, th Rev. Lee Crandall officiating. Interment was in Griggstown Cemetery under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

of course, and we might also think of social dancing, bridge, chess. The athletic program needs a real shot in the arm."

For Skating Safety. Right now, a winter program is on the calendar, and Mr. Barr and Sergeant John Petrone of the Township Police, are working with Norman van Arsdalen of the Township School's athletic department, on a program of Lake Carnegie safety and education.

A flag system, for example, may warn skaters away from rotten spots. Perhaps there will be "no skating" signs for out-of-towners who won't know the flag system. It's all in the works.

Mr. Barr comes to Princeton from Pelham, N.Y., where he had been Superintendent of Recreation since March, 1961. Before that, he served Montclair for two years as Director of Activities for the Recreation and Park Department. Before that, he was in the Navy, and before THAT, he was a student at Springfield College, graduating in 1957 and continuing later with graduate work.

While he was in Monclair, he supervised the development of three park sites, so that Community Park in Princeton is not a new development for Mr. Barr.

Got A House? In Pelham, he started a teen-age summer dance program that drew 300-400 youngsters every Friday, and when he left Pelham, he was deep in plans for a new recreation center.

"We had a Senior Men's Basketball League in Pelham," he says, "adult woodworking, a cooking class, indoor tennis, volleyball, badminton—working through the schools, you know."

Mr. Barr hopes, very soon, to send around to each Princeton resident a questionnaire asking, what new programs should Princeton provide?" "What do you like to do for recreation?"

And he might well add another question, which brings us back to the beginning and the one serious problem Mr. Barr has found in Princeton. He might ask, on that questionnaire, "Do you have a modestly-priced house I can buy in Princeton for my wife and me and our two children?"

Far from being a recreation house-hunting for Mr. Barr has become almost a way of life, and he has yet to win the game. Even a place to rent. . . .

"Being a recreation director is really almost a seven-day job," Mr. Barr feels, "and I certainly would like to live right in the Princeton community where I can be as close to my family as possible."

JOINS REALTY FIRM

To Manage Business Division. K.M. Light, Real Estate has announced the addition to its staff of Maurice R. Loewenthal, 278 Riverside Drive, as head of the industrial, commercial and business division of the real estate firm.

Mr. Lowenthal has been sales manager for Pine Knoll Estates, and was associated with Sandean Construction. He holds bachelors and masters degrees from New York University.

MORE PETITIONS FILED

School Contest in Township. A contest for election to the Township School Board developed this week with announcement that seven petitions have been filed for the five available positions. Four places are open on the Borough School Board, with three announced candidates so far. Deadline for both is this Thursday at 4.

Borough candidates are Mrs. Paul Strayer, 37 Jefferson Road, seeking election to her second term; Dr. E. Frederick Laschever, 39 Scott Lane, who is running for the first time, and Dr. Harvey Rothberg, 44 Robert Road.

Dr. Laschever is an ophthalmologist with four sons in the Borough school system. Dr. Rothberg, a physician, has been a strong advocate of Borough-Township school merger.

Bryan V. Moore, who has served five three-year terms on the Board, cannot run again because of a new state regulation which prohibits members of the state prosecutor's office from holding elective office. Mr. Moore is an attorney.

Dr. Henry Abrams, also an ophthalmologist, will not run for re-election. William Evans, whose term still has two years to run, has resigned to become business manager for the Board.

Four for Three. In the Township Charles Jaffin, 522 Rosedale Road, has filed for the one-year position created by the resignation of Donald Riddle and George Goldsmith, 27 Longview, has filed for the two-year spot that is vacant because of the resignation of A. Robert Trudel. Mr. Jaffin is an attorney, Mr. Goldsmith a physicist at RCA.

Four candidates have filed for three full-term positions. They are: Harold Mantell, 131 Brookstone Drive, head of Harold Mantell, Inc. a public relations and film production company; Leonard Hymerling, 297 Jefferson Road, construction executive with Lewis C. Bowers and Sons, who is seeking his third term on the Board and, as announced last week, David Brodsky, assistant treasurer and controller of Educational Testing Service, and Mrs. George Fremon, vice-chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Long-Range Planning for the Township Schools.

Dr. Laurence B. Holland, 79 Deerpath, will also file, but whether he will run for a three-year term, or for the two-year vacancy is not yet known. Dr. Holland is a member of the English department at Princeton University.

TIME TO REGISTER

For YMCA Classes. Winter programs for youngsters and adults alike will begin next week at the Princeton YMCA. But there is still time to register.

Because of the holiday season, registrations will be accepted on Monday and Tuesday for the first and second grade gym and swim instruction course which begins on Tuesday at 3:30. Openings are also available in the other classes for all age groups.

Registration periods for other classes: adventure club crafts for first and second graders, third grade pioneer guides, fourth grade club gym and swim instruction, fifth and sixth grade gym and swim instruction. Thursday, 3:45-5; Gra-Y arts and crafts, and co-ed trampoline, Monday, 4:30 to 5:30.

These registration hours will also be open to adults. For further information, area residents may contact the YMCA at 924-4825 or write or go in person to the association building on Avalon Place.

If one needed a "quickie" phrase to describe the main effect of this house, it might well be "Sunny Surprise." The outside is pleasant — gray shingle, two-story with white trim and black shutters — but gives no indication of the really surprising amount of light and airy space inside. Entrance hall, living room (with fireplace) and dining room are all very nice, but it's the kitchen, playroom and bedrooms that are really outstanding. The modern, kitchen is done in copper, tan and brick effects, attractive and highly efficient, with room for a dinette set. Two steps down is the stunning large playroom (with half bath off). 3 of the 4 bedrooms are very big, with either double or walk-in closets. 2 tiled baths, huge walk-in storeroom, attic (hardly necessary), fine dry basement, 2 car garage round out the spacious space. Screen and rose-covered post & rail fencing enclose the patio, while the rest of the 3/4 acres make a perfect playground. Really a "good deal" at $45,000

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

All rights reserved. © F. Dickinson & Co., Inc., New York

PEOPLE TALK!

"We first found out about electric heat from our friends.

"Not only did they do a lot of bragging.. but when the winter going got tough they could back up those claims. 'Comfort, fuel always on hand'. . .things like that.

"Now I've joined the braggers. Until you've lived with it for a year, you can't imagine just how efficient electric whole-house heating can be."

And that satisfied user from New Jersey (and his thousands of counterparts in Massachusetts and Ohio and points North, South, East and West) is acknowledged to be the best salesman for the "fuel of tomorrow today."

In the approximately four years that electrical heating has been mass-marketed for home use, consumer requests have often preceded builder-interest in some communities.

— Advantages Cited —

The electrical heating industry, which acknowledges that the growth of electrical home heating has far outdistanced even their rosy expectations, superiority of their method over older ones is evidenced by the following:

● COMFORT. Electrical heating systems, with their room-by-room thermostats, deliver an evenness of heat not possible with any other type of equipment.

● FLEXIBILITY. "The increasing demands of modern life demand flexibility and efficiency in household equipment" said a spokesman recently. Electrical heating passes the flexibility test both as to equipment and usage. For example, electrical baseboards (one of the most popular equipment types) are available in modular lengths and corner pieces to suit a room's exact need. The installations are unobtrusive also, so flexibility of interior decoration is permitted. There is even flexibility of temperature if and as desired. Since room-by-room thermostating is usual, one room can be set cooler, another warmer.

● "TROUBLE-FREE." Electrical heating systems require no maneuvering or re-ordering of fuel on the part of the householder. Flipping the switch on or off is the major extent of effort required. And — since there are few or no moving parts, maintenance needs are almost unheard of.

● SPACE SAVING. Since the heat is delivered right to the room source no bulky basement equipment is needed for electrical radiators, ceiling cable or wall units. Expensive duct work is also eliminated.

The final benefit cited by most authorities is the long-term investment value. When built according to the recommended standards, electrical home heating systems last indefinitely, and add greatly to the worth of a house when you want to borrow money or perhaps sell or trade in the house in future years.

QUESTION BOX

Q. Is electrical heating expensive?

A. It is considered competitive as far as costs are concerned. Futhermore, by its nature, electricity is the only fuel that is 100% useable within the rooms to be heated. Nothing is wasted piping it to the point where it is needed.

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of bygone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

Q. Why are we just beginning to hear about electric heating? Seems to me it's been around for years.

A. You're slightly wrong. Electrical home heating system started coming into wide use something a little less than four years ago. The manufacturers of electric heating equipment have been commended for their work in making sure that rigid standards were established for construction of the surrounding house so that the efficient heat delivered by their equipment would be utilized to its fullest. Accordingly, the National Mineral Wool Association worked out exacting "heat-loss" specifications for insulation. Much testing of actual dwellings was done. Today any builder can get free specifications down to the exact size of the kitchen fan.

Q. Where do I get an estimate on what it would cost to change over to electricity from my old heating system?

A. Choose an electrical contractor from the adjacent directory. Your utility company is also available to answer questions without charge.

Q. Is a house built in 1928 too old to convert to electrical heat?

A. Not if it's a pretty good house to begin with. There are houses over a hundred years old which now boast modern electrical heating.

Q. How much insulation must an electrically heated house have?

A. Whatever it needs to make it a "quality" house, that is a tightly insulated house that keeps the heat in and the cold out.

Q. What's the story on storm windows for a house heated by ceiling cable?

A. It's not the type of equipment that determines "storm windows or no storm windows." As we said to the above questioner the object is to keep the heat in and the cold out. In the Northeast storm windows or double sash are the standard recommendations.

Q. What's the latest advice on whether an electrically heated house should or should not have a basement.

A. It's not to-have or-not-to-have a basement that concerns the experts so much. That's pretty much up to you. In the East, four out of five homes do. But if you choose a basement, then it is recommended that you install heat.

COLONIAL . . . we are very happy to be able to bring this availability to your consideration — a charming white Colonial with a bright red door on a tree-lined street in the Township. First floor: living room with fireplace, dining room, sun porch, kitchen. Second floor: 3 bedroms, 1 bath . . . plus (in the attic) an insulated playroom. $29,900

IN THE BOROUGH . . . this is that rarity in Princeton — a four bedroom house for under thirty-five! If you have been looking for just such a property — a half-acre lot bordered by a rail fence upon which the pretty red roses climb, and a good solid house with a big, dry basement, perhaps this fine Cape Cod will meet your expectations. First floor: hall, living room, large dining room, kitchen, 2 bedrooms, 1 bath. Second floor: 2 bedrooms, 1 bath. $34,000

LIKE THE COUNTRY? . . . here is a beautiful home in a nice woodsy setting which could be the ideal place for a couple determined to retire in comfort and style, or for two young people who plan to start their wedded life as close to Princeton as possible, but far enough away so that they can learn all about the joys of living in the country. Living room 14 x 28 with a stone fireplace. Modern kitchen. 2 bedrooms, 1 bath. The house is a good ways back from the road, on one and three-quarter acres, and is of very fine construction. (sole agent) $38,000

PERFECT . . . this scrupulously cared-for home is ready for any perfectionist to move into — it's beautiful indoors and out. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths. Large living room with a fireplace that also serves the study. Separate dining room. Fully air-conditioned. $47,500

GRAND COLONIAL . . . your very first glimpse of this newly-built residence, sited among beautiful shade trees, on the slopes of what will soon be Princeton's most desirable residential community—Stuart Hill, will tell you that here is where you want to live. Standing on a terrace which will soon gleam with ivy and periwinkle, the house has a square entrance hall, with powder room close by, a large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, library, a modern kitchen and laundry, and maid's room and bath on the first floor. Second floor: 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. The house, of course, has everything that the niceties of modern living require, but the location is what sets it apart. Across the road is the new Stuart Country Day School — the outstanding school of its sort in this diocese. And nearby, just a short bike ride away, are the wonderful new Princeton Day Schools — a merger of Miss Fine's School and Princeton Country Day, which are scheduled to open in 1965. This is your opportunity to be one of the first to benefit from Princeton's new campus concept of country living. (sole agent) $75,000

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY FOR A WOMAN

Small social research office in Princeton. Permanent area resident preferred; part-time and flexible at present but permanent; work from about 3 to 5 p.m. daily.

Pleasant telephone manner, typing helpful. Ideal for college graduate whose family doesn't need her in the afternoons or to "ease into the working world again"; or for someone presently employed full-time — who wants less rigidity.

Please include day and p.m. telephone numbers, hourly rate expected, whether permanent resident, references (to be checked only after personal interview and with your permission); and mail one page resume to our:
